

Jeremy DALE ROBERTS

(b. 1934, d. 2017)

www.uymp.co.uk

Jeremy Dale Roberts was born in Gloucestershire in 1934 and studied composition at the Royal Academy of Music with William Alwyn and Priaulx Rainier before taking a degree in music at the University of Durham.

His compositions have been performed worldwide at the Edinburgh and Aldeburgh Festivals, the Venice Biennale, the Diorama de Geneve, and the festivals of Avignon and Paris. They include the Cello Concerto - 'Deathwatch' written for Rohan de Saram; Tombeau for Stephen Kovacevich; Croquis for string trio, written for members of the Arditti Quartet (BBC commission); In the Same Space, nine poems of Constantin Cavafy, written for Stephen Varcoe; Lines of Life, lyric episodes for ensemble, written for Lontano (BBC commission); and Casidas y Sonetos - del amor oscuro for solo guitar (Arts Council commission) for Charles Ramirez.

Jeremy Dale Roberts's music sometimes displays a taste for unconventional, sometimes exotic media: for instance, Hamadryad for alto flute, viola and guitar; the large sequence of pieces for gamelan entitled Stelae; and Nightpiece for soprano and two bass viols, commissioned by Evelyn Tubb. But he has also written a good deal for his own instrument, the piano, most notably Oggetti – omaggio à Morandi, inspired by the still-lives of the great 20th century Italian artist.

As well as composition, he has been active as a teacher for many years, notably at Morley College, the Royal College of Music (1966-98, latterly as Head of Composition) and as Visiting Professor of Composition at the University of Iowa (1999-2000, 2004). Other activities include work for the Finzi Trust and the RVW Trust, and extensive editorial work on the recently published editions of Gerald Finzi's music. His interests include the fine arts, literature, gardening and travelling: shortly after graduating he spent two years in cameroon, and in recent years has been to mexico, russia, korea, south-east asia, and ladakh.

Jeremy Dale Roberts passed away in 2017. He was a highly distinguished composer with whom it was an absolute pleasure to work. Here at UYMP, we are proud to have him in our catalogue.

"The first thing that strikes you about the music of Jeremy Dale Roberts is its concentration and economy. It is music of absolute integrity, always sensitive to the tiniest musical gesture, and never showy or pandering to fashion. It has the uncanny ability to make a very few notes tell—as if the fewer notes there are, the more is being said. His work has been described as 'interior in nature and reflective', and though often jewel-like, intimate and private, it is also uncompromising: the listener cannot get too comfortable, for there could be an outburst round the corner."

Richard Causton, The Guardian

"... a composer who over 40 years has amassed a small, intensely honed and crafted body of work. The music has an attractive self-deprecating quality, unfolding in a series of muted, weightless gestures, each separated from the next by a pregnant silence."

The Times

There are within his music rare feelings of a fragile but not weak beauty, of a delight in sound per se, not sounds of hefty orchestral tutti, but those of a solo line, or instrumental coloration, the importance of which often passes superficial listeners by.'

Robert Matthew-Walker, Musical Opinion

"[a] studiously economical but intense style... Winter Music is a powerful, bleak sextet, climaxing on a searing trumpet outburst."

The Sunday Times

"He has kept his integrity through the changes of the stylistic weather-vane... and produced a considered and refined output of perfectly crafted chamber work and miniatures through what is now close on fifty years."

John Fallas, The Classical Source
